SKULLS OF WIFE AND DAUGHTER CRUSHED WITH AXE, SUPPOSEDLY BY HUSBAND--SUICIDE OF LATTER BY JUMPING OUT OF HOTEL WINDOW ENDS INTENDED FAMILY REUNION
---"THE WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH" PHRASE FOUND IN POCKETS OF ALLEGED MURDERER---"TA! TA! EVERYBODY: DON'T WORRY OVER THOSE TWO" HUSBAND'S FAREWELL GREETING

New York, Jan. 27.—Police today identified the body of a man who died in a hospital shortly after jumping from the third floor of an up-town hotel as that of Nathan Pullman, the retired Chicago insurance agent, who was being sought on the charge of having murdered his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Pullman, and daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Bazel, in a Bronx apartment yesterday. The man died without regaining consciousness, but police say they found a number of papers, notes and letters in his clothing which proved his identity and later a relative made the identification positive. Three of the letters contained the phrase "The wages of sin is death."

Pullman registered at the hotel early last evening as "Mr. Jones and wife", telling

Pullman registered at the hotel early last evening as "Mr. Jones and wife", telling about four hours before the bodies of his wife and daughter were found. The skulls of both women had been crushed in with a small hatchet which was found under a bed. Friends said Pullman had come here from Chicago for a reunion with his family, and was believed to have carried $5,000 in currency when he left the apartment. Police expressed the opinion after an investigation that the man had murdered the two women after suddenly going insane. One letter found in Pullman's clothes, addressed to the newspapers and "Everybody" said:

"Goodbye, ta ta, everybody. I guess I will make good. I am going away on a long journey. Ta ta again and ta ta once more." In a rambling, disjointed manner, the writer advised the people "not to worry over these two" as they were now better off, and "there is no good in making a fuss over something that can't be helped." There was no signature to the note.

PRESIDENT REFUSES TO SUPPORT SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

THINKS THAT STATES OUGHT TO DECIDE THE QUESTION

New York, N. Y., Jan. 27.—President Wilson refused today to support the movement for an amendment to the federal constitution providing for women's suffrage. He spoke briefly to 200 members of the congressional union for woman suffrage and told them that he felt the suffrage question should be dealt with by each individual state.

Efforts made by Mrs. Mary Reed, wife of a Columbia University professor, to cross examine the president on his position met with failure. He courteously refused to reply to her queries. "He said: 'It may be that my views work slowly, but I have always thought that there were things which should be built slowly and therefore made more lasting. I may be a little old in fashion in my view that the suffrage question should be handled by the states.'"

Mr. Wilson promised again that he would discuss the subject with members of congress as soon as possible. He declared, however, that he was still convinced that the suffrage issue should be worked out by the states. He added that he saw no reason for the president to be discouraged by the fact of his being made.

While speaking in the middle of the national defense fund campaign, he also advocated woman suffrage. The president reminded the crowd in New Jersey and promised that if the question came to a vote again he would again speak for it.

The president delivered the address at three addresses at the New York Federation of Women's Clubs representing all departments. And hearty applause was introduced by the Rev. S. E. Young, of Boston, who remarked that the president ever had a prayer in his heart.

Lincoln bore such heavy burdens," said the clergy-

DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE HAD NO QUORUM

Columbus, O., Jan. 27.—Owing to a lack of quorum the democratic state central committee could not hold a business session when it met today. An adjournment was taken until Wednesday, February 2, at one o'clock. Only ten of the twenty-one members were here for the meeting today.

Desire to separate as much as possible state and national issues led some of the democratic state central committee members to favor fixing May 30 or May 31 as the time for the democratic state convention. This is two weeks before the national convention. The party in this state can make its platform at that early date and give an advance endorsement of the national platform, said W. L. Finley, chairman of the executive committee.

The state convention probably will be held in Columbus and will consist of about 1,000 delegates, one for each 500 democratic voters in a county. One vacancy existed on the central committee today, caused by the death of Major J. W. Smith of Ottawa.

Members of the committee said they had no intention of endorsing the candidacy of any particular man for the gubernatorial nomination.

At present the frigid outpourings of the high pressure area that has centered over the upper Rocky Mountain region have reached as far south as Northern Texas and as far east as Iowa. At Havre, Montana, the lowest temperature ever recorded in January and the coldest of the year to date was reported this morning.

It was 54 degrees below zero and is only 11 degrees below the record low temperature for northeastern Montana.

A storm centered over Northern Illinois is said to be responsible for the unseasonable warm weather of the past few days. Precipitation has been widespread with exceedingly heavy rains in Texas, Missouri, Arkansas and Iowa. Following on its heels is the high pressure area and the cold wave.

MUNITION EMBARGO IS BURIED

Washington, Jan. 27.—For more than an hour today the senate debated indirectly the proposal to put an embargo on shipments of war munitions, and then without a vote referred it to the foreign relations committee as the administration leaders wished.

N. & W. CAR OF POWDER LETS GO AT BLUEFIELD THIRTY ARE INJURED

Bluefield, W. Va., Jan. 27.—More than thirty persons were injured, five seriously here last night, when a car loaded with black powder blew up in the local yards of the Norfolk & Western Railroad. Fire followed and before the flames could be controlled, several cars loaded with merchandise had been destroyed. Three cars containing dynamite were on a nearby siding at the time, but firemen succeeded in removing them to a place of safety. The cause has not been determined. The explosion occurred about one mile and a half from the business section. The shock was felt five miles and hundreds of windows were broken. Many persons at first believed that an earthquake had occurred. Bomb plotters and foreign sympathizers with warring nations are not blamed for the tragedy. It could not be learned last night where the carloads of explosives were consigned.

FOUR ARE DROWNED IN RIO GRANDE

BULLETIN

Brownsville, Tex., Jan. 27.—Privates William C. Wheeler and Viggo Pederson of Battery D, fourth field artillery, who were kidnapped late yesterday by Mexicans and taken south from the border, were rescued by Carranza soldiers and brought to Brownsville today. They were turned over to American authorities dressed in Mexican clothes.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Major General Funston reported to the war department today the drowning of four and the capture of two soldiers near Brownsville yesterday. His dispatch dated yesterday contained a report by Major Anderson, commander of the Twentieth cavalry as follows:

Four men of Battery D, fourth field artillery swam across the Rio Grande while bathing in the river at Progresso, about 3:30 p. m. today. Two were made prisoners by two Mexicans with rifles, and taken back into the interior from the river. The other two men of the battery swam back. Some two or three shots were fired at them while returning.

Lieutenant J. E. Mort, commanding the battery, with Lieutenants Peyton and Waldron with about 14 men of the battery and one man from the Twelfth cavalry crossed the river about three-quarters of an hour later and went about three-quarters of a mile back into the interior from the river, searched two houses but did not find their comrades. They were fired upon ten or twelve times by men in the brush. They remained on the other side about one hour. When they returned, the crossing was covered by our men on the bank of this side, who fired some two hundred shots. None of our men were killed or wounded.

The following men were drowned while swimming to the other side: Sergeant Owen Clements, Corporal Michael F. King, Private Harry A. Rolde, all of Battery D, fourth field artillery; and Private Charles D. Wilton-Best, Troop A, Twelfth Cavalry.

The following men were rescued while swimming to the other side: Sergeant Owen Clements, Corporal Michael F. King, Private Harry A. Rolde, all of Battery D, fourth field artillery; and Private Charles D. Wilton-Best, Troop A, Twelfth Cavalry.

General Funston in transmitting the report said:

Colonel Blockson has ordered Lieutenants Mort, Peyton and Waldron to be placed under arrest and Captain McBroom, 28th Infantry, has been placed in command of the camp. I have directed Colonel Plumery, 28th Infantry to send one of his field officers to investigate. Mr. Garcia, Mexican consul, has been informed of the exact contents of Major Anderson's telegram and of the arrest of the three officers concerned. I have gone to Matamoros and asked the commandant to make a search for the missing men. I have also asked that the civil service examinations be made for the positions of a salary of $1200 a year. Among those affected is Chas. Cooke, Waverly, and W. E. Jackson, Jackson.

WILL NOT LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS

London, Jan. 27.—Parliament was prorogued today until February 15. In the prorogation, King George said: "We shall not lay down our arms until we have vindicated the cause which carries with it the future of civilization."

FRENCH LOSSES

Bristol, Jan. 27.—M. Longuet, a French socialist deputy who addressed the labor conference today, on being questioned regarding the French losses said that 800,000 soldiers had been killed, that 1,400,000 had been wounded and that 300,000 had been taken prisoners.

JOSEPH VERY LOW

Rome, Jan. 27.—(Via London)—It is reported in Valian circles that the condition of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, who has been ill for several days, is rapidly growing worse.

All bodies were carried away by the swift, muddy current and have not yet been recovered. A search is being made.

The following named men are still in the hands of Mexicans on the other side: Private William C. Wheeler and Private Viggo Pederson, Battery D, fourth field artillery.

Western Daring Is Used To Raid A Chicago Bank

GUNS POKED IN OFFICIALS' FACES; TAKE $12,000 CASH

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Four robbers armed with revolvers, entered the Washington Park National Bank in East Sixty-Third Street, threatened the lives of the cashiers, clerks and twenty depositors, and escaped with between $12,000 and $15,000.

None of the depositors, who were ordered to stand facing a wall was searched by the bandits who gave their sole attention to the money in the teller's cage. After grabbing the money the four hastily backed to the door and escaped in an automobile. Policemen and detectives were quickly summoned and search for the bandits was begun.

J. Garland Stahl, manager of the Boston Americans, when that ball club won the world's championship in 1912, is vice president of the Washington Park National Bank, with which he became connected on leaving the Boston team.

Every detail of the robbery seemed carefully planned, according to Mr. Stahl, who was forced to remain at his desk facing a revolver, while one of the robbers entered the teller's cage and took the money from a drawer.

"I was sitting at my desk," said Mr. Stahl, "shortly before 4 o'clock when four men entered. Their faces were masked in black and each carried two revolvers. There were about ten persons in line at the cashier's window. Ten clerks, the bank's officers and two stenographers were in the room. Three of the men threatened us with their weapons while the fourth entered the cage and took the money."

"As soon as they got the cash they backed to the door and ran to their automobile. The engine had not been started and they went down the street at about forty miles an hour. They got more than $12,000."

Municipal Judge Sheridan E. Fry, was among the depositors who were forced to witness the robbery. The bandits paid special attention to Mr. Stahl. Two revolvers were poked within an inch of his face and he was ordered to hold up his hands. "I obeyed without any hesitation," said Mr. Stahl. "And the fellow kept his guns pointed at me and the cashier while his companions got the money."

"The same command was given to all the others in the bank and not a hand was dropped until the last robber backed out of the door. Then there was a rush for the telephones to notify the police."

A. W. McCauley, assistant cashier, ran quickly to the street and jumped into an automobile standing at the curb. He attempted to follow the robbers, but they out-distanced him and turning several corners disappeared. "Officials of the bank said that none of the robbers appeared to be more than 20 years old."

The bank is situated in one of the busiest sections of Chicago outside of the downtown district.

A FUND TO SAVE HOMES

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 27.—Organized labor throughout the United States is expected to give the value of an hour's labor to the cause of the Hatters of Danbury, Connecticut, whose homes are about to be sold at auction in foreclosure proceedings. The money will go into a fund being raised by the American Federation of Labor for the relief of the 180 defendants in the famous suit of D. E. Lawrence and Co. vs. Martin Lawler and others, which began in 1901, reached its final stage in 1904. The United States district court here last week, when an order was issued relative to the sale of property taken under attachment in the boycott suit. There are 155 parcels of property, mostly the modest little homes of men who were named among the defendants.

Tokio, Japan, Jan. 27.—The London report that the Japanese government had delivered to the Chinese minister in Tokio a note embodying seven demands which were included in the Japanese program of last spring was said by the foreign office today to be untrue.

MAN WHIRLED ABOUT REVOLVING SHAFT

Fred Ault, who operates a ferryboat between Haverhill and Greenup, narrowly escaped meeting a tragic death on Tuesday when a heavy sweater he was wearing caught in a set screw of a drive shaft in the boat. Before the machinery of the boat could be shut off Mr. Ault was whirled around a number of times at a high rate of speed and a bone in his left ankle was fractured, he was injured internally and suffered multiple bruises. He would probably have been killed had not Mrs. Louis Ault been in the cabin of the boat and realized Mr. Ault's predicament. Louis Ault was in the pilot house of the boat and could not see his brother. Mrs. Ault, as soon as she realized the peril that Fred Ault faced called to her brother but as he was not familiar with the machinery a little time was lost in shutting off the power. Mr. Ault was unconscious when released from the shaft, which had wrapped the heavy sweater around his breast and held his body firmly to the piece of machinery. He had an almost miraculous escape from death.

Mr. Ault was as soon as possible removed to his home in Haverhill and given medical attention. He regained consciousness and is now considered entirely out of danger. He is the father of Mrs. Harry Revare of this city, and is one of Haverhill's best known citizens.

The regrettable accident took place just below Haverhill, where Fred and Louis Ault were doing special ferrying Tuesday.

SCIOTOVILLE RUMPUS IS TO BE HEARD SATURDAY

At nine o'clock Saturday morning, the deputy supervisors of elections will hear the protest of several Sciotoville citizens, headed by Judge F. L. Sikes and Squire Stewart, against holding the municipal election of the newly incorporated village on March 21st. The protestants claim that the original notice fixed March 7th as the date, and that change was made without warrant of law. They will insist that the election should be held on March 7th. Back of the controversy is said to be a factional fight over the nominees for municipal offices.

DISTILLERS MAKING ALCOHOL FOR THE EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

Ike Levi, a well known former Portsmouth liquor dealer, is here from Cincinnati on one of his periodical business visits. Mr. Levi says his business is looking up and he believes it will continue good throughout the year. Mr. Levi says many distillers over the country have for the present entirely suspended the manufacture of whiskies and instead are using their plants for making alcohol which they are exporting to European countries, while the big war is on. This is causing an advance in prices of whiskey, particularly among the cheaper brands.

play by Edwin Archer which gives full scope to her remarkable talents, and results in a series of heart-stirring pictures. The story shows how a stage charmer, by winning a susceptible and rather weak man, breaks up a home, leaves a wife exposed to the machinations and wiles of an unscrupulous society rouse, almost wrecks the life of a college boy, leads up to a murder and a thrilling court scene, with a reconciliation between mother and son, and a happy love scene at the ending. A feature of the presentation is the fact that the big wedding picture is the first scene ever taken for a motion picture in a real church. A house of worship in the Bronx Borough of New York was used for this scene, with the regular organist of the church and the sexton in attendance.

Theodore Roberts and Dorothy Davenport in "Mr. Grex of Monte Carlo", a Paramount at Lyric Tomorrow

Theodore Roberts, the distinguished star, will be seen at the Lyric tomorrow, in the photodramatic version by Jesse L. Lasky of E. Phillips Oppenheim's thrilling novel, "Mister Grex of Monte Carlo", which recently appeared in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post and is now one of the most widely discussed books of the day. It is a Paramount Picture.

Mr. Oppenheim is said to have written this story nearly two years ago while on a visit to Monte Carlo. There he saw, and recognized, three of Europe's greatest diplomats, all apparently, upon pleasure bent but meeting in secluded parts to discuss international relations. Taking this as a theme for his story and involving an impetuous young American millionaire on a yachting cruise, he constructed his wonderful unconscious prophecy of the present European conditions.

A young American falls headlong in love with the daughter of one of the diplomats, posing as "Mister Grex" and is greatly chagrined, but not undaunted, when he learns that she is the Grand Duchess Fedora. His unconscious and unintentional interference in the plans of the statesmen, stamps him as a spy and he is ordered "removed." How he escapes confusion in the world's greatest diplomatic circles and wins the hand of the Grand Duchess, make many gripping incidents and unusual situations.

The Lasky Company has given "Mister Grex of Monte Carlo" a production of its usual lavishness and fidelity to detail.

The scene in the Casino at Monte Carlo of the great gambling saloon is said by authorities to be absolutely correct.

The distinguished American artist, Theodore Roberts, is seen as "Mister Grex", otherwise the Grand Duke Augustus of Russia, and the clever young actor, Carlyle Blackwell, is the impetuous American. The Grand Duchess Fedora is Miss Dorothy Davenport. Other people prominently featured are James Rank Elliott, Horace B.

The Movies

"The Spoilers" Columbia Tonight
"The Spoilers," a nine reel picture, reproducing Rex Beach's famous story of early Alaska, is undoubtedly one of the world's greatest pictures in motion. Ask anyone who has seen it and they will tell you the same thing.

By the time the Selig Motion Picture company had arranged to reproduce "The Spoilers," some features of the original environment had been eliminated, and it became necessary to restore them to preserve the full value of Rex Beach's famous story.

Main street, in the city of Nome, had been wrecked by a tidal wave, and the remaining part of the city had been destroyed by the shortly afterward.

With the aid of old photographs several squares of Main street was restored.

It may be recalled in the back of the mind, to rebuke the lawless frontiers, who had under the false shade of local advice, taken their property in revenge, destroyed the old mining camp of Midas. This camp was rebuilt in vivid detail, as an old mining camp was portrayed, only to be blown off the map by high explosives, reproducing most vividly the destruction as spoken of in the story.

Over five months were required in making "The Spoilers," necessitating the carrying of a large company to Alaska to secure the results of authentic location. As the back of a large number of scenes in the main, you will see the most realistic main scenes in "The Spoilers" today that you ever saw in motion pictures.

This grand picture was thoroughly enjoyed by hundreds last winter at an admission of 25 cents per seat. Today this price is reduced to 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

The first show will begin promptly at 7:15 and will be run continuous through the supper hour until about 10:30.

Colored Man Leaves Estate To Church

The entire estate of the late Henry C. Johnson, colored, of this city, real and personal alike, valued at over $2000, is bequeathed to the Allen Chapel M. E. church of Seventh street, according to the provision of his will, filed in probate court Thursday morning by Attorney A. H. Bannon.

The bequest is made with one restriction, however, and that is, that no part of the money is to be spent for any other purpose than for general improvements or rebuilding of the church house, either on the present site or on such other location as the trustees of the church shall designate.

The will was signed by the legator on March 27, 1915, with Anna B. Fossett and A. H. Bannon as witnesses.

Attorney A. H. Bannon, who was Mr. Johnson's attorney during his lifetime, will probably be named as executor of the estate.

It is rumored that some of the local relatives of the deceased will contest the will.

HUSBAND IS MISSING—WIFE AND DAUGHTER MURDERED

New York, Jan. 27.—Detectives were searching today for Nathan Pullman, a retired real estate agent, who disappeared from his rooms in the Bronx yesterday, four hours before the discovery that his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Pullman, and married daughter, Gertrude Bazell, had been murdered there. Other occupants of the house told the police that Pullman left the lodging house at three o'clock yesterday, telling the landlady whom he met in the hall that his wife was ill and that he was going for a physician. Four hours later, when he had not returned, the landlady went to the rooms occupied by the Pullmans and found the body of Mrs. Pullman on the bed with her skull crushed apparently with an axe that was thrown under the bed. The body of Mrs. Bazell lay near the door to the room indicating that she had been struck down as she entered, evidently, with a hatchet, which was found on the floor nearby.

BLUEFIELD IS SHAKEN BY POWDER CAR EXPLOSION

THIRTY ARE INJURED THREE CARLOADS OF DYNAMITE ESCAPE

Bluefield, W. Va., Jan. 27.—More than thirty persons were injured, five seriously here last night, when a car loaded with black powder blew up in the local yards of the Norfolk & Western Railroad. Fire followed and before the flames could be controlled, several cars loaded with merchandise had been destroyed. Three cars containing dynamite were on a nearby siding at the time, but firemen succeeded in removing them to a place of safety. The cause has not been determined. The explosion occurred about one mile and a half from the business section. The shock was felt for miles and hundreds of windows were broken. Many persons at first believed that an earthquake had occurred. Bomb plotters and foreign sympathizers with warring nations are not blamed for the tragedy. It could not be learned last night where the carloads of explosives were consigned to.

BRITISH POSITION SERIOUS

Berlin, Jan. 27.—(By Wireless to Sayville)—The Cologne Volks Zeitung publishes a despatch from Cairo stating that the British in Southern Arabia are in a dangerous position as a result of fierce attacks by Arabs and Turks. It is stated the British casualties up to December 30, amounted to 15,000 killed and 20,000 wounded.

TORNADO STRIKES 2 TOWNS

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 27.—At least one life was lost, several persons injured and a dozen houses destroyed in a tornado that last night struck Hartshorne, Okla., about forty miles from Fort Smith. Gowen, another town several miles distant, was also hit, but owing to wire trouble, no particulars of the damage there were available early today.

MEXICANS CAPTURE AMERICAN TROOPERS

Brownsville, Texas, Jan. 27.—United States military officials here today are awaiting the results of a rescue expedition by Carranza soldiers into the Mexican territory across the river from Progreso, where yesterday two United States troopers were captured by Mexicans. Lieutenants Mort, Payton and Waldron, late last night were ordered arrested by Major General Funston for leading a party of fourteen American troopers into Mexico in an attempt to rescue the two troopers. In this expedition four American troopers were drowned attempting to swim across the Rio Grande. Others penetrated Mexico, but returned without having accomplished the object of their mission. A prolonged cross fire took place during these operations, but no one was wounded. It is said the Mexicans engaged were not soldiers.

ROBBERS RAID CHICAGO BANK

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Four robbers armed with revolvers, entered the Washington Park National Bank in East Sixty-Third Street, threatened the lives of the cashiers, clerks and twenty depositors, and escaped with between $12,000 and $15,000.

WANT TO OUST STANDARD OIL FROM STATE

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 27.—George H. Phelps, Findlay attorney, made another attempt today to get the supreme court to review his suit looking to the ousting of the Standard Oil Company from doing business in Ohio on the ground that it violates the Valentine Anti-Trust act. He appeared to argue for his motion to order the court of appeals of Hancock county to certify the case in which he seeks a mandamus order to compel Prosecutor John E. Betts, of Hancock county, to institute oner proceedings against the Standard Oil Company. This motion was argued September 16, 1914, but the court neglected to pass on it then. Several other ouster suits against the oil company started by Mr. Phelps have been decided against him.

"JEWISH RELIEF DAY" IS BEING OBSERVED THROUGHOUT COUNTRY

New York, Jan. 27.—Funds for the relief of Jewish war sufferers are being collected throughout the United States today under the proclamation of President Wilson designating this as "Jewish Relief Day". Hundreds of Jewish organizations are engaged in collections. This city was organized into districts for canvassing purposes and many thousands of volunteer canvassers were assigned to duty.

IS THAT SO! WELL IT HAS TO BE PROVEN

Columbus, O., Jan. 27.—A cold wave will bring an end to Ohio's spring-like weather by tomorrow night, the local forecaster of the United States weather bureau says. Rain will fall this evening, according to the weather man, and will be followed by colder weather tomorrow, culminating in a cold wave by night.

ENGLISH WOMEN MUST LEAVE

Berlin, via London, Jan. 27.—Fifty English women who have been employed in various occupations in Berlin, have been ordered to leave the country not later than February 6. The authorities say this action is taken in reprisal for the expulsion of German women who had been employed in England.

WEATHER

Ohio—Friday rain or snow and much colder with cold wave by night.

Ice Falls 125 Feet -- Hits Mud--Saved!

Monongahela, Pa., Jan. 27.—C. H. Ice, 25, a painter, fell 125 feet from a scaffold, suffering a broken arm and leg and slight concussion of the brain but physicians predict he will recover. Ice, it is claimed, owes his life to the fact that he fell in mud.

Circuses To Feature "Champs"

Jess Willard, champion heavy-weight pugilist, and Frank O'Neil, famed wrestler, are to exhibit their prowess before circus crowds this summer, their having signed a contract with the Barnum & Bailey circus. It is claimed that they will haul down $1,250 per week as stipulation for their daily exhibitions of boxing and wrestling. Frank Moran, who has challenged Willard and will probably get a crack at the champ has signed to stage a boxing match with the 191 Ranch Show next season. Willard was featured by this tented aggregation last year.

Evidently the motley crowds that flock to towns on circus day want to see real champions in action. It is said that Willard drew immense crowds to the 101 Ranch Show last year, everybody being anxious to take a peep at the cowboy puncher, who put Jack Johnson out of the pugilistic games.

Bresnahan Wants Contract Fulfilled

Chicago, Jan. 27.—The exact status of Roger Bresnahan in major league baseball still is undecided today although at a conference yesterday with Charles Weeghman he was officially informed that he is no longer manager of the Chicago Nationals.

Weeghman said he would pay Bresnahan his salary as provided in his contract which has two years to run, but that Joseph Tinker would pilot the Cubs. Bresnahan is said to have told the new Cub president that this arrangement did not meet with his approval and to have hinted at possible legal proceedings to force the fulfillment of his contract to the latter.

Will Play Ashland

Coach Trout has put the local high school basketball five through hard practice every afternoon this week and the team is in fine trim to meet the Ashland high school five Friday evening.

The game will be played on the Ashland floor. The locals will use their regular lineup with Baerman at center, Trone and Wagner guards and Brande and Nutter guards.

Here Are Records

The P. H. S. basketball squad has won two and lost two games this season but still have scored 91 more points than their opponents.

Baerman has scored the most points making 28 in two games. Nutter has scored 18, Wagner 17, Trone 16 and Brande 8 in three games. Evans scored 9 in two games and Shumway 2 in one.

These points were made in the games with other schools. Following are the P. H. S. scores so far this season:

Alumni 10; P. H. S. 63.

Waverly 7; P. H. S. 62.

Wellston 20; P. H. S. 18.

Huntington 24; P. H. S. 20.

Total, opponents 70; P. H. S. 161.

MAY NAME WAHOO SAM

Chicago, Jan. 27.—President Johnson of the American League, was quoted today as saying he would suggest that ball players be given representation on a new body which he hopes will replace the National Commission.

"The question of player representation is more than a possibility," he said. "If they are given a representative, he should be a man from their ranks who will look after the rights of the players, and also those of the managers, such as a man for instance as Sam Crawford, of Detroit."

MAY SEE REAL FIGHT

Cincinnati may get to see a real scrap after all. There is talk of match Joe Rivers with Johnny Griffiths for a ten round go in the Queen City. If this pair swap punches in Cincinnati just put a small bet on Griffiths.

WILL ENTER TOURNAMENT

The champion Mayville high school basketball team will participate in the State School Basketball Tournament which will be held in Danville, Ky., March 3, 4 and 5. The Mayville high school students will give a play to raise the money to send the team to Danville. Mayville has one of the best teams in years this season.

CLASSY TEAMS WILL CLASH

The Spanish class basketball five will clash with the German Evangelical church five in the high school gym Friday evening. It will be the first time these two teams have met on the floor this season. Edgar, Amundson, Schmitz, Stalen and Matthews will be in the Spanish team's lineup while Uhl, Rowe, Cline, Kugelmann, Kah and Schusky will perform for the "Dutchmen."

BOOK GAME

The German Evangelical five have booked a game with the Second Presbyterian gym quintet. The game will be played next Thursday evening.

HURLER BROWN TO HANDLE PITCHERS AT THE CUB SPRING TRAINING CAMP

Mordecai Brown.

One of the nice jobs in Joe Tinker's Cub training camp at Tampa in March will be held by Mordecai Brown, the famous three fingered hurler. Brown has been informed by Tinker that he is to have charge of the squad of pitchers.

JACK TIRES OF EUROPE

Jack Johnson, it is said, wants to come back to the U. S. A. The negro has been given a reprieve and has been allowed to return to the U. S. A. He is very likely that the once-time champion will come back to this country and serve out the prison term meted out to him for violation of the Mann white slave law.

Will Any Harvard Man Answer This?

The football season has been dead enough to be buried, but it isn't dead yet. Harvard and Yale are still at it. Harvard's biggest star, was in the game only a few minutes. What, they ask, would have been the score had Barrett escaped injury.

Ironsides Defeated Those Giant Killers

Times. John Millard was like Finnegan on a job, off a job, gone again. His best effort amounted to 136. Captain Clark did not have his usual big night, but came through in the last game with 138. No more snuffing, hawking, else he would have been away up yonder.

Edward Riekey, for the Giants, had one of his poorest nights and admitted the same. He lost the range of the boss pin and had one awful time keeping ahead of the 100 mark. Frank J. Baker, the "sluggish shoe man," started out like a quarter horse, and banged up the high score in the opening game. He didn't do so worse in the second game, but had his troubles in the third and just got over the 100 mark. Edward Campbell had a real good evening, that score of 172 being of sufficient proportions to send him home with a burst of joy and glory. Charles Dandley got better as the evening wore on and was going great guns in his last game when he topped 'em over for 168. All in all it was a rare evening of sport and the boys had one large time. The scores:

TEAM STANDING.
Teams	G	W	L
Ironsides	27	21	6
Cement Specialists	24	17	7
Giant Killers	24	15	9
Rebels	24	14	10

Games Next Week.

Thursday Evening—Rebels vs. Club Boppers, alleys 1 and 5.

Friday Evening—Giants vs. Open Shooters, alleys 4 and 5; Spiders vs. Submarines, alleys 2 and 3.

Rowing. Carefully, artistically, deliberately, even viciously, those iron sides of the Atlantic League, tripped the Ironsides two out of three at the Play House alleys. Wednesday evening, and were as happy over the result as though they had won first money in a National tournament.

The Giant Killers seemed to be off their stride at various times and on sundry occasions. When one player was up the others would be down and that union of achievement was easily broken on the other hand the Ironsides managed to launch their good work and this accounts for the fact that they walked off the battle field with the first and last game. The Giants pulled together in the sandwich game and managed to squeeze through in apple pie order.

"Bald," full, muscular and active, led off for the Ironsides and set a pretty nice pace. He was generally there when needed and came within a few pins of averaging 150, pretty nice for "Baldy." Moore came onto the alleys with that good right arm carefully measured, and while he did not score a game, nevertheless he was a hearted in the other two, and to him must go much of the credit for winning the two games. He topped off 124 for a starter, and then let into one splits then could find in a bottle of hot honey, finishing with 160. Debarbated to retrieve himself, he changed into the pins for 143, a bad job of keeping him out of the 150 range. Pretty good game, that. Mr. Moore, captain, a veteran by profession, shot in carefully laid back, getting more than his share of splits. At that he did fairly well and kept plugging like the thoroughbred he is at all

Reb Russell Has Signed

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Reb Russell, pitcher, signed a contract for another season with the Chicago Americans today.

Why Ritchie Is Popular

Willie Ritchie has suffered a number of reverses of late, yet he still is an idol in New York. Willie fights from the first go to the last—and fights at top speed. That's what the fight fans like. It's regrettable that a number of other battlers haven't learned this.

"Overs" Outclassed The "Under" Players

Completely outclassing their adversaries at every bend in the road, those "Overs" had no trouble whatever in trimming the "Unders" in a four game series of duck pins at the Play House alleys last night. In the twelve games rolled, the "Overs" are now leading the "Unders" by the wide margin of 485 pins and they can already taste that great spread the "Unders" have obligated to prepare. Not a game did the "Unders" win last night—nor did they even come close. The "Overs" ran away from their younger opponents, the latter being ready to quit at any stage of the game. J. Kelley, lead off man for the "Overs" had the best individual average and played carefully and accurately. Captain W. A. Hutchins was also in fine form, despite his long lay off. Vallee Harold was in fair form, shooting a whole lot better for the "Blind" than for himself. George Wilhelm, anchor man, was not up to his usual performance. Ed Leach rolled high score for the "Unders," closely pursued by Dr. Young. Raymond York was pretty nifty, but that word cannot be used in truthfully describing his performance of Bill Gableman and Fred N. Tynes. The scores:

OVERS—
York	105	80	111
Gableman	100	82	93
Leach	97	117	102
Tynes	89	87	95

Put Stomach In FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in stomach decay, or rather, ferments, and same as food left in the open air, sends a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Everything eaten soon in the stomach, much like garbage, soon in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour fo or have heartburn, flatulence, water brash or nausea.

He tells us to try aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making masts, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Look years younger! Try Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur and nobody will know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Woods' Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy, and you look years younger.

HE WHO RUNS MAY READ

"Distortion of news to suit the business or personal policies of a newspaper is the greatest danger to American journalism to-day. News columns exert much greater influence than editorial pages.

"For this reason it has become a factor in the day to rightly direct the portrayal of the news to give truthful direction to the force of headlines, to secure an impartial portrayal of the news that leaves the reader to judge not what the editor wants him to judge, but what he ought to know."

"The tendency to allow personal or business interests tinge the quality of the news has not reached into the smaller publishing centers as much as into the large cities," Governor Willis explained, because "the large news agencies which are supplying you are taking scrupulous care to prevent distorted news from reaching your columns and so it happens that everywhere we hear big newspaper men saying today that the small newspaper is generally regarded in its community as reliable while many large papers are not always so regarded."

These observations, along with more of similar import were made by Governor Willis to an assemblage of newspaper publishers at Columbus, Tuesday evening. They embrace the sun and substance of journalism. No truth set out could be more patent. Their principle is the only foundation upon which the successful newspaper can be built now-a-days. Some publishers do not recognize this and, well their publications are not successful.

There is much platitude and more gush these parsons times about the high mission of the newspaper and consecration to the uplift, but the Governor lays down the whole law for them—truth. The newspaper is a business solely and simply, a retail merchant, if you will, its commodities being its news and its advertising space. In selling these it is bound by integrity and the requirements of trade. Its goods must be as represented in so far as human judgment and care can make them. If it colors the news, as received and reported, to suit its own views or some concealed purpose, it disposes of its wares by false pretenses.

Certainly, no newspaper can escape publishing things that are untrue, but it can avoid that which it believes to be false and the public will arrive quickly enough to a determination as to its honesty and sincerity. It will measure him by the same standard as it does the merchant, who can not always discover the defects or lack of represented quality in his goods, but whose earnest effort to maintain fairness and quality earns him the good will, which is the vital asset of his business.

The honest and reputable newspaper does not sell its opinions nor attempt barter therewith. Its editorial columns are for the expression of the individual views of ownership, but it goes without the saying, that these must be characterized by sincerity, moderation and fairness, else will they breed suspicion as to the integrity of the publication.

BOTH LIFE AND DEATH

"Competition is said to be the life of trade, there are situations where it is the death of it.

This came near being the case in the base ball war in which an armistice was recently signed and an amalgamation of the warring interests effected. In foolish and dishonorable rivalry managers got to bidding higher and higher for players, and the players obsessed with the idea that the time to make hay was while the sun shone, became more and more extortionate in their demands. The quick result was the wrecking of one league and a staggering blow to the stability of the other. It took mination and loss to bring the owners to the proper bearing that competition must be fair and just to itself. As for the players who reached out to grab all in sight they will find the grabblings are being relentlessly picked away by the gentle dove of peace.

One T. P. Riddle, who swore, aye, 'tis said actually swore, he would cause an explosion under the state board of agriculture does seem to have touched something off.

POLLY AND HER PALS

TAKING WHILE THE TAKING IS GOOD

A WOMAN AND HER WAYS

Mademoiselle Collinere, as her name indicates a fair daughter of la Belle France, is the highest salaried woman, living or dead, her pay envelopes totaling $25,000 annually.

And how do you think she makes it? By looking upon the wine when it is red; no, not exactly that way, but by sipping it, no matter what its color. Odd, indeed, still not half so much so as that Mademoiselle never drinks a drop. For she isn't a wine bibber, but a taster. She has an exquisite palate and it is her fortune, instead of her face, though that she sweet and fair enough. 'Tis said of her that her sense of taste as a thing to be used not in coarse professional, rather is it an art. Therefore does she protect and guard it. That isn't a light thing either, for no matter if the taste of the wine be that of the nectar of the gods she must not swallow it; neither must she eat things that would pull and cloy its delicate and exquisite perception. Just think because of that she knows nothing of puddings, pies, candies or sweetmeats of any sort, sparingly, if at all must she partake of lemons, pineapples and the more aromatic fruits. And yet further must she not taste if her spirits be faded, her nerve o'er strung, or her body tired. Any of these things would militate against and eventually destroy her earning capacity. Such wonderful things can she tell of her taste. With one sip she can tell whether the wine comes from California, or France, from which every vineyard the grape was plucked, whether it lay on hillside or in valley. Therefore is it not surprising in her to tell us that those who know wine are surprisingly few, the wine drinking world being contented, as a rule, with blends, containing cheap alcohol, some coloring and poor flavoring, with no grapes at all.

If we could only believe all we hear about the surging multitudes of the G. O. P. that flocked to see Daugherty when he was here, we would be fearful none but Democrats would be left to do the honors when Cousin Myron Herriek comes straying this way in chase of the senatorship.

President Carr, of the Ohio State league, was in Portsmouth, Tuesday, and the dope promptly went out that he was looking for a prosperous baseball season in these parts. We've heard that same dope seven times and a decade ago it outlooked an even hundred plunks from our jeans.

When we read of the weather and the disasters of other sections, we are impressed that he who abides hereabouts not only has his fires east in pleasant places, but he is exemplifying in the highest degree the great maxim of the day: Safety first.

As one of the signs of Democratic times set it down that the United States Steel corporation has resumed dividends on its common stock and substantial ones at that.

SO IT USUALLY IS

The telegraph, especially where the stuff was sold by a news agency, owned and operated by a New Yorker, who owns mines and vast areas of lands in Mexico, has been fairly reeking with tales of bloody outrage upon Americans. One was somewhat at a loss whether the terrible Mexicans were killing more men than they were stealing cattle.

All the time we were haunted with a suspicion that there was too much docility and forbearance on the part of those on this side of the border, knowing the contempt in which they hold those below the river. Now, we have the explanation. There hasn't been any such thing. We mean by that there hasn't been too much docility and forbearance. If we believe the complaints the Mexicans set up a condition exactly the reverse has prevailed. Their border officials make claim that every time a sombrero came within vision of the international line, some one promptly plunked away at it, while as to Mexican cattle not a horn or hoof is safe within a hundred miles of the Rio Grande. Of the truth whereof we are not sufficiently informed to either maintain or deny, but it's plausible enough and rather assuaging to our vanity. We never felt good to be told the other fellows were doing all the shooting and raiding. And while we adhere sternly and unflinchingly to the moral code, do not like to feel and know there is no game at which anybody can beat us, nor can any set or race ride rough shod over us.

Even a good thing sometimes gets to be contagious. A petition is out praying for improvement of that impossible road between Buena Vista and Rome, not the Eternal City, but the hamlet down on the river.

The face of the Kaiser is said to be that of a tired, broken man, but we'll just risk it that it can't be compared with those pale casts of thought he has wrinkled upon the visages of other potentates.

We don't care from which fund state aid for roads come, all we want is the money, and the more the happier we'll be and the better the roads.

It will be too bad if some technicality will be found to void the bonds that Wheelersburg recently voted to issue to build a school house. At the worst, however, it will only mean delay.

Many people are coming to Portsmouth every day, on one mission or another. A showing that the interests of the town are spreading.

Oldest inhabitant or youngest, now, honestly, did you ever see such delightful January weather.

ANGER CUTS LIFE SHORT

"Unless you are tired of life learn to control your temper," advises a prominent physician. "Have you ever given a thought as to why so many men die between the age of 50 and 55?"

"You haven't? Well, do you want to live out your own allotted span of three score years and ten? You do—Then avoid, as very plagues, three things—grief, worry and anger. The latter particularly, and for this reason:

"Time cures grief and wisdom cures worry—you get wise as to the utter futility of it—but there's no time cure for anger, and it's only the wisest of men, and very few there are of them, who are wise enough to make a point of never getting angry.

"Anger, or rage, uses up the vital forces at an appalling rate. The exhausted feeling which comes over you after you have been thoroughly angry should tell you that you have drawn on the day's supply of vitality."—Kansas City Star.

They can imitate but they can not rival the Peerless. Jacksonville, the metropolis of Florida, copied Portsmouth's two-mile street dinner, but fell short by a half.

Some things are hard to understand. For instance why a Portsmouth citizen would take flight for North Carolina at this particular season, in search of a more genial climate.

And every day the Ohio is dropping nearer the bottom.

If really deals mean anything it's an easy guess the Peerless is going to see some building this year of grace.

The brokers have begun peddling around automobile stocks. As a rule they are the best thing in the world not to buy.

More of these awful Democratic times. Money is getting cheap.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.
O.O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Jan. 27.—Miss Edna Wallace Hopper, of Paris, arrived in New York on the S. S. Lafayette this week and the afternoon of her arrival she caught a glimpse of her husband, A. O. Brown, as her taxi-cab whizzed through West Forty-Eighth street.

The next evening she shook her husband's hand when formally presented to him at the Playhouse, where he is manager. "I'm awfully sorry, but I haven't a seat in the house, so I can't ask you to come in," said Mr. Brown, apologetically. "Perhaps you can drop in at a matinee next week," he added hastily, with true husbandly solicitude. "Thank you so much," replied Mrs. Brown. "I'll call you up as soon as I get settled and perhaps we can have dinner together some evening." Mrs. Brown, who is a movie show on Broadway, where she saw her husband, De Wolf Hopper, in "Don Quixote."

"Mr. Hopper and I are very good friends," she said, "and I admire him tremendously—as an artist." Reinald Werrenrath, the singer, whose name is never spelled the same way twice, is out West and stopped while in Oklahoma City at the Lee-Huckins Hotel, Joseph Huckins, Jr., president; L. W. Huckins, vice-president; Paul S. Huckins, treasurer; and Marquand Huckins, secretary.

"Lee, I take it," writes Reinald Werrenrath to E. P. Adams. "Is as silent a partner as I ever heard of."

It was at a lecture in Carnegie hall when a gushing late comer entered and said to Theodore Morse, Faust's song star: "Is the seat next you reserved?"

"Evidently. It hasn't made a sound since I came in," was the reply. January is the real month in New York. From all over America come thousands to see the great annual metropolitan spectacles. More than 300,000 people gather for the automobile and motor boat shows. The Westminster Dog Show is good for 40,000 more.

At least 100,000 auditors will hear opera at the Metropolitan. All these without reckoning the innumerable thousands who swarm here to enjoy the theatres, the concerts and the picture shows, which put forth their best attractions at this festive season.

War has made Gotham the winter mecca of America. Rooms are not to be had at hotels. The governor of a western state was forced to sleep in the grand ballroom of a big Fifth Avenue hotel the other night. Money is, as Kid Road says, as loose as ashes.

The reason why the street level windows of New York's smartest clubs are deserted of afternoons has been discovered. The good-looking chaps who sit there looking 'em over from above the comfortable rim of a Scotch soda or a double from are now playing baseball. Yes, sir, baseball.

The winter baseball season is open at West End avenue and Ninety-Fifth street. Fully quipped with miniature bleachers, press reserved seats and a regular diamond, these hardy athletes play the national game through the coldest weather—indoor baseball in outdoor settings.

The rules are about the same as for the brand of game one sees in the summer time, except that the ball is larger and softer and there are but six players on each nine. Six clubs belong to the league—the Knickerbocker, Union, University, Calumet, Racquet and Twelfth Infantry officers.

A bon indication of prosperity has been discovered, or rather several of them. Three pawnshops have gone into bankruptcy court and twelve percent lodging houses on the Bowery have gone out of business in the past six months.

SAY, ASHUR, WHAT'S THE HURRY?

"The Life Does Not Pay, I Was Down And Out," Says Confessed Counterfeiter

Newton Jones and John Savage, local men arrested a few days ago on charges of counterfeiting and passing counterfeit money, confessed to the U. S. authorities in Cincinnati, Wednesday, according to Wednesday's Cincinnati Times-Star, which contained the following article about them:

"The life does not pay. I was down and out, I had no place to go to, no friends to aid me and I started to make spurious money. I served one sentence of 4 years," so said Newton Jones, confessed counterfeiter.

"This is the first time you had me and it will be the last. I got into this foolishly," John Savage, who confessed he passed coins made by Jones.

Their statements were made in the police Bertillon room, when Supt. Robert Dunning took their photographs, measurements, and finger prints for Col. Michael Bolan of the U. S. Secret Service. Jones, formerly lived at Bellevue, Ky., where he was caught making bogus coins and was sent to Atlanta. Savage had never before been arrested. They are relatives by marriage. Jones is a fine looking man with a gray beard. The men were arrested on a shanty boat near New Boston, O., by Portsmouth police, and Col. Bolan notified. With Deputy U. S. Marshal Hough he went to Portsmouth and worked "up" the case against the men. "A man named Taylor taught me to make the molds," said Jones. "I made them from plaster of paris. The metal I got in different places in Cincinnati. The first time I only made bogus silver money, but this time I made $5 and $10 gold pieces. I was down and out and I thought that it was easier to make my own money than to get it any other way. No, I never passed a coin myself. I had others do that. It was enough that I made it. I made about $300 and about half of that was passed."

"No, I never saw the old man make a mold. He would never let me see them," said Savage. "He always did that when alone, and after he run off a half dozen or so coins, he would throw the mold in to the river. They were dummies, too. I had no trouble to pass the coins. I came to Cincinnati and bought the material he used."

LEVI D. YORK MADE LIFE MEMBER OF THE ELKS

Portsmouth Lodge of B. P. O. Elks, at their meeting Wednesday night, conferred a signal honor upon one of its most enthusiastic members, when Mr. Levi D. York, president of the Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Company, was made an honorary life member. A resolution was unanimously passed commending Mr. York for his adjustment of the question of taking a five-year lease on the Elks' comfortable quarters. Before the resolution was passed it was announced that a five-year lease on the present quarters in the Play House building had been formally signed up, with a privilege of a longer extension at the expiration of the five years. The Elks are now in complete possession of their handsomely furnished quarters, and Elksdom in Portsmouth will enjoy a boom in the next few months, as plans are under way to materially increase the membership. With the signing of the lease it was announced that the work of completing several added features of the new home would now be taken up. The building committee, which labored so faithfully to provide the Elks with a comfortable home was given a hearty vote of thanks last night and it was discharged. The committee was composed of Messrs. Paul Esselborn, Vallee Harold and Alan N. Jordan. This committee worked in absolute harmony with the board of trustees, composed of J. P. Haldeman, J. T. Carey, J. F. Carr and John B. Jones, and the trustees were also extended a vote of thanks last night for the capable manner in which they performed their work in connection with the Elks new home.

Deep regret was expressed over the death of Gordon Frank Lauman, who for a number of years had been a member of No. 154 B. P. O. Elks. Fitting resolutions will be adopted lamenting his death. He was held in the highest esteem by the lodge and local Elksdom lost one of its shining marks in the passing of Ex-Senator Frank Lauman.

The serious illness of Adam Seel was reported and a beautiful bouquet of flowers was ordered sent to his sick room. Mr. Seel is one of the living seven charter members of the lodge.

Exalted Ruler Stanley McCall announced at the meeting that a class of 10 candidates would be initiated on Wednesday night, February 9. Thirteen candidates were successfully balloted upon last night. Two weeks ago a class of 19 was initiated.

The Movies

"The Spoilers" Columbia Today
"The Spoilers," a nine reel picture, reproducing Rex Beach's famous story of early Alaska, is undoubtedly one of the world's greatest pictures in motion. Ask anyone who has seen it and they will tell you the same thing.

By the time the Selig Motion Picture company had arranged to reproduce "The Spoilers," some features of the original environment had been eliminated, and it became necessary to restore them to preserve the full value of Rex Beach's famous story.

Main street, in the city of Nome, had been erected by a tidal wave, and the remaining part of the city had been destroyed by fire shortly afterward.

With the aid of old photographs several squares of Main street was rebuilt.

It may be recalled in the book that the miners, to rebuke the lawless invaders, who had under the false shade of local advice, taken their property in revenge, destroying the old mining camp of Midas.

Over five months were required in making "The Spoilers," necessitating the carrying of a large company to Alaska to secure the results of authentic location. As the book only for large number of scenes in the rain, you will see the most realistic rain storms in "The Spoilers" today that you ever seen in motion pictures.

This grand picture was thoroughly enjoyed by hundreds last winter at an admission of 25 cents per seat. Today this price is reduced to 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

The first show will begin promptly at 1:30 and will be run continuously throughout the supper hour until about 10:30.

Hilda Spong in "Divorced" at The Lyric Today

The Equitable's five-part society drama, "Divorced," which is to be shown at the Lyric Theatre today, presents Hilda Spong, England's most celebrated emotional actress, in a play by Edwin Archer which gives full scope to her remarkable talents, and results in a series of heart-stirring pictures. The story shows how a stage character, by winning a susceptible and rather weak man, breaks up a home, leaves a wife exposed to the machinations and wiles of an unscrupulous society roue, almost wrecks the life of a college boy, leads up to a murder and a thrilling court scene, with a reconciliation between mother and son, and a happy love scene at the ending. A feature of the presentation is the fact that the big wedding picture is the first scene ever taken for a motion picture in a real church. A house of worship in the Bronx Borough of New York was used for this scene, with the regular organist of the church and the sexton in attendance.

The Arcana

Mr. Potts has gone a little out of his ordinary way of booking, and a great expense booked that well known drama, "Held For Ransom." He has been compelled to raise the price to 10 cents, but you can rest assured that you are more than getting your money's worth, in fact you are getting a regular 25 cent show for a dime. He hasn't stopped at that but is giving you another well known and much liked picture, "The Glittering Youth."

Which means, now stop and think seven big time reels for only 10 cents. Above all, now, take time to see every bit of this great show and you will be more than repaid for doing so. Mr. Potts never does anything by halves, all or none with him.

The Marmot's Revolve. Reference to unpublished communique a "blower" in the final report of the vivisection commission issued two years ago. ## ARE HEIRS TO MILLIONS, IF THEY GET HOLD OF IT

Mrs. Jesse Gardner, son Dick, and daughter Mrs. Charles Thornburg, of 2942 Walnut street, East Portsmouth, has received notice that they are among a number of heirs to a large fortune which will run into the millions.

Rev. Moses D. Steen, M. D., of Glen Hazel, Washington, Scotland, who is a cousin of Mrs. Gardner, has written to her saying that he is making an effort to locate all heirs of Alexander

Steen, grandfather of Mrs. Gardner, who came to this country and made his fortune. Rev. Steen is one of the closest relatives and is locating the relatives so the vast amount of money can be divided.

The letters received by Mrs. Gardner contain a coat of arms that of the jeweled crown of Scotland. Alexander Steen came from a royal family. From the little amount of information received so far the fortune consists of land at Lancaster, Pa., where large steel mills have been erected on the ground. Chestnut Heights at Lancaster are said to be part of the fortune. One whole square of land in the business district of San Francisco is also part of the land formerly owned by Alexander Steen. Mrs. Gardner expects more information from her cousin in regard to the number of heirs and the exact amount of the fortune.

UNDYING LOVE DESPITE HUSBAND'S TORTURE IS RELATED BY MRS. MOHR

Providence, R. I., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr, on trial with two negroes on the charge of murdering her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, asserted on the witness stand today that she loved her husband and was always desirous of effecting a reconciliation with him.

She denied unequivocally that she ever plotted to have killed. The accused widow told her story in a very low voice and appeared to be cool and collected. Once or twice while telling of some particular turn in her domestic troubles she seemed on the verge of breaking down, but each time she regained control of herself.

In answer to questions put to her by her counsel, Mr. Oushing, the witness said that her husband had been cruel and abusive, but that she loved him notwithstanding his treatment. She identified a letter she said she had received from him while she was at the Newport home in the fall of 1915, in which the doctor said:

"I don't want anything around that reminds me of you and if you ever put your foot in my place in Providence I will about kill you. You are barred from my Providence places and I will never associate with you again. The only time we will be under the same roof will be when I go to Newport, perhaps. When you leave there, you leave everything, and I don't care when you leave. I've been putting on a sham front all summer for you, but I can do it no longer."

"I am tottering now. I will have no more of it." Mrs. Mohr made the assertion that Mr. Mohr urged her to go West and get a divorce, but she refused. Mr. Mohr threatened to kill her because she would not give him her jewelry, according to her testimony. She asserted that the doctor coerced her into leaving her property to him and that up to 1912 all his possessions had been put in her name.

Continuing Mrs. Mohr said that she received many threats from her husband because of her attempts to keep Miss Emil Barger away from him. She asserted that Dr. Mohr was addicted to the use of liquor and drugs and while under their influence was dangerous.

She did not deny writing letters to Heals, Dr. Mohr's negro chauffeur, while she was visiting the doctor's relatives in McEwensville, Pa., explaining that she wanted to know what the doctor was doing—that he was her husband and she was interested in what he did. She asserted that her correspondence with Heals was not carried on in pursuance of an impending plot to kill the doctor.

Several times in her story the widow emphasized her unifying affection for the doctor and two or three times affirmed that she had wanted to become reconciled to him. She denied furnishing the defendant Brown with money for a motor cycle in May, 1915, on the furtherance of the alleged plot against her husband.

"I didn't have enough money for myself and two children to get along on," she said.

Delty In Four Letters.

A remarkable fact regarding the name of God is that it is spelled with four letters in most of the languages of civilized peoples.

In Latin it is Deus; Greek, Zeus; Hebrew, Adon; Syrian, Adad; Arabian, Alla; Persian, Syra; Tartarian, Igra; Egyptian, Aum or Zent; East Indian, Ragi or Zent; Japanese, Zain; Turkish, Addi; Scandinavian, Odin; Croatian, Doga; Dalmatian, Ragi; Tyrrhenian, Eber; Etrurian, Gaur; Margarine, Oese; German, Gott; French, Dieu; Spanish, Dios; Peruvian, Llan.

In Anglo-Saxon the three letter name means "god," which has four letters.—Boston Transcript.

YOU MUST WEAR BRIGHT THINGS WITH YOUR NEW "MUD BLUE" THIS SPRING; YOUNG MEN WILL ALSO SELECT BLATANT HUES

The new note in female apparel this spring is "mud blue," a shade so drab and dull that it must be worn with very bright colors. Gay spots of color in the hat, girdle and other appropriate places relieve the soberness of the shade which it is promised us will be very popular. Male styles will also be enlivened with bright colored socks and cravats. The tendency in the length and width of skirts seems to indicate a return of the athletic skirt.

WHY YOU HAVE HEADACHES

Do you know that ninety per cent of all headaches are caused by the strain of the muscles and nerves of the eye? In most of these cases there is no noticeable defect in sight whatever. The trouble is simply over-sensitive nerves and overworked muscles. Immediate relief for this trouble is found in glasses that are properly fitted.

There's a wider meaning in those two words, "properly fitted," than has occurred to you, perhaps. For instance, if the glasses you are now wearing fail to give complete relief, it is probably because the lenses do not put the nerves of the eyes, as well as the muscles of the eyes, at rest. Our trained oculists know this condition and give it full consideration in their treatment. They not only provide lenses that balance the sight of each eye with the other—but they also make sure that those same lenses put at rest the delicate nerve and muscle machinery that controls your sight.

You cannot expect this correct and vital service from the average optician. They have little or no idea of the way normal vision is produced. CARR'S system of fitting glasses always gives complete satisfaction, as thousands in this city will testify.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Jan. 27.—Steady liquidation and short selling caused further variable concessions today, rails proving most vulnerable.

Further reactionary tendencies were manifested on the resumption of trading today, although declines, except in a few specialties, were limited to fractions. Rails were again the heaviest features but U. S. Steel was under pressure. Initial offerings of Erie, Southern Pacific, Mexican Petroleum and Westinghouse were moderately large. Steel sold at 87 1/2, a decline of 1/4 from yesterday's close, but immediately rose 1/2 point.

Metal issues were irregular with more losses than gains. Secondary prices showed slight recoveries on diminished dealings.

Selling was renewed on the first recovery with increased offering of rail issues, Erie and Canadian Pacific, being especially prominent. U. S. Steel, Paul, whose directors are expected to take action on the dividend today, also reflected liquidation, with recessions in reading and other leaders. Union Pacific stood out for its relative strength and Mercantile Marine preferred and American Can were among the more stable favorites. Lower levels were reached all around in the second hour when steel fell to 87 1/2 and other important stocks yielded their early rise. Feeble rallies occurred at noon. Bonds were steady.

Prices made substantial recoveries from lower levels on the increase of the St. Paul dividend to the five per cent basis. The closing was irregular.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Profit taking by holders continued today to weaken the wheat market. The disposition to make further realizing sales was largely due to reports from Liverpool that buyers were holding off in anticipation of reduced vessel rates, presumably from Argentina. On the other hand, a leading authority predicted that Argentina shipments would be light. Opening prices were ranged from 3 1/2 to 1 1/2 c, with May at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 and July at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, were followed by a rally, but then a fresh decline.

Reports that foreigners were re-selling at the seaboard led to an additional sale, but the market soon had a sharp reaction. The bulls laid stress on the chances of extensive winter killing by a prediction of heavy snow. The close was steady at 3 1/2 to 1 1/2 net advance with May at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 and July at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4.

Unsettled weather that threatened to cut down receipts and to spoil the quality of some of the supply, made our prices firm. The lifting of an embargo on shipments to Baltimore tended also to help the bulls. After opening 1/4 to 1/2 off to a shade advance, the market scored moderate general gains.

The temporary break in wheat did not have much influence on corn. Prices closed steady at 1/2 to 1/4 net advance.

Corn hardened with corn. Prices advanced, though, with narrow, precipitous showed little activity. The lack of aggressiveness on either side left quotations almost steady.

Later commission houses bought feed and an upturn in prices ensued. A rally in the hog market was chiefly responsible.

DECEPTIVE AIR BOMB WREAKS HAVOC

Berlin, (via Wireless to Sayville)—Jan. 27.—The Hamburger Fremdenblatt reports that one of the bombs dropped by the German air squadron when it raided Dover on Monday fell on a deposit of mines which exploded and caused devastation in the neighborhood. Thirty-nine persons, including one officer and 24 soldiers, the newspaper says, were killed. According to the Fremdenblatt's account the explosion did not take place until 15 minutes after the bomb had landed so that the soldiers at first believed the missile was harmless. Railroad cars, filled with provisions and several cottages are reported to have been destroyed. One transport anchored in the harbor was damaged by the explosion and sank immediately. Twenty-seven wounded persons were transported to a London hospital. The British aeroplanes, the newspaper says, were not ready in time for defense.

UNDYING LOVE DESPITE HUSBAND'S TORTURE IS RELATED BY MRS. MOHR

Providence, R. I., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr, on trial with two negroes on the charge of murdering her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, asserted on the witness stand today that she loved her husband and was always desirous of effecting a reconciliation with him.

She denied unequivocally that she ever plotted to have killed. The accused widow told her story in a very low voice and appeared to be cool and collected. Once or twice while telling of some particular turn in her domestic troubles she seemed on the verge of breaking down, but each time she regained control of herself.

In answer to questions put to her by her counsel, Mr. Cushing, the witness said that her husband had been cruel and abusive, but that she loved him notwithstanding his treatment. She identified a letter she said she had received from him while she was at the Newport home in the fall of 1913, in which the doctor said: "I don't want anything around that reminds me of you and if you ever put your foot in my place in Providence I will about kill you. You are barred from my Providence places and I will never associate with you again. The only time we will be under the same roof will be when I go to Newport, perhaps. When you leave there, you leave everything, and I don't care when you leave. I've been putting on a sham front all summer for you, but I can do it no longer."

"I am tottering now. I will have no more of it."

Mrs. Mohr made the assertion that Mr. Mohr urged her to go West and get a divorce, but she refused. Mr. Mohr threatened to kill her because she would not give him her jewelry, according to her testimony. She asserted that the doctor coerced her into deeding her property to him and that up to 1912 all his possessions had been put in her name.

Continuing Mrs. Mohr said that she received many threats from her husband because of her attempts to keep Miss Emil Burger away from him. She asserted that Dr. Mohr was addicted to the use of liquor and drugs and while under their influence was dangerous.

She did not deny writing letters to Healis, Dr. Mohr's negro chauffeur, while she was visiting the doctor's relatives in McEwenville, Pa., explaining that she wanted to know what the doctor was doing—that he was her husband and she was interested in what he did. She asserted that her correspondence with Healis was not carried on in pursuance of an impending plot to kill the doctor.

Several times in her story the widow emphasized her undying affection for the doctor and two or three times affirmed that she had wanted to become reconciled to him.

She denied furnishing the defendant Brown with money for a motorcycle in May, 1913, on the furtherance of the alleged plot against her husband.

"I didn't have enough money for myself and two children to get along on," she said.

Cleaning House

The police officials are taking advantage of the spring-like weather to give the city buildings a thorough house-cleaning. Among the latter was Tom Dempsey, who was arrested again for drunkenness Wednesday night.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Portsmouth resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Walter Drenan, retired grocer, 1012 Findlay St., Portsmouth, says: "I had constant pains in my back and loins, chills and dizzy spells. The action of my kidneys was very irregular. I was so bad that I was down in bed for about two months. I doctored and used many kidney medicines, but nothing helped me. Finally I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and in a very short time I was entirely cured." (Statement given November 23rd, 1906.)

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mr. Drenan said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a bad case of kidney trouble and that cure has been permanent."

More than a Million People have seen Douglas Fairbanks and Seena Owen in Triangle's splendid production of "The Lamb"

When Broadway goes crazy about a moving picture—it's time for you to see it. If you have seen "The Lamb," be fair to your friends. Tell them to see it, too.

If you haven't—get hold of the manager of the Moving Picture Theatre you go to—and ask him to get the film and run it. Even if it does cost him a little more than usual pictures, he will be glad to get it—for he will make money on it.

The speed of the story,—the big scenes with hundreds of people and hundreds of horses; the tightness you have in the throat when "The Lamb," all by himself, makes a stolen Gatling spit hell-fire and death at a howling mob,—all these help—

But when lovely Seena Owen crawls up into Douglas Fairbanks' arms—and smiles—Well—you are so glad you went that you go again; and take your friends.

Which is why more than a million people have seen "The Lamb."

Every TRIANGLE picture may not be as good as "The Lamb." But every TRIANGLE picture is so far out of the usual moving picture class that it is worth going miles out of your way to see.

See "The Lamb." Or—see it again.

Any Moving Picture Theatre can get "The Lamb"; if it has already been shown nearby the crowd will be so much the bigger.

18 POUNDS OF BLOOD

Is the average quantity in a healthy adult, but it is the quality of the blood that determines our strength to resist sickness. With weak blood we find cold hands and chilly feet; in children an aversion to study, and in adults rheumatic tendencies.

In changing seasons get abundant fresh air and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals, because Scott's Emulsion is a rich blood-food that will increase both quantity and quality of the blood while it warms the body and helps carry off the impurities.

When multitudes of people are winter taking Scott's Emulsion to their winter sickness, and are giving it to their children, it is careless to neglect its benefits. Look out for substitutes.

TELLS ABOUT CONDITIONS IN THE "RED LIGHT" DISTRICT

Some insight into present day conditions in the rejuvenated Red Light district on Eleventh street was given at the hearing of a woman giving the name of Mable Rillerford in police court, Thursday morning.

Miss Rillerford had been arrested Wednesday night for creating a disturbance in a house she had rented of Mrs. Grace Diltz a few days ago. She was open in all of her statements, declaring frankly that she had rented the house from Mrs. Diltz to conduct a resort, saying that she was to pay Mrs. Diltz $1 per day for each room in the house. She said the Diltzes moved into a smaller house they own next door. The woman denied that she was drunk, claiming instead that she was only mad. She said some fellow from Houston who she knew had come to the house and because she sat down to talk with him one of the girl inmates reported to Mrs. Diltz that she was not "attending completely "broke" now for Mrs. Diltz had gotten all of the proceeds of the house, she said. The mayor fined her $50 which he suspended on condition that she leave the city within 24 hours, saying he would take up with Mrs. Diltz the matter of providing her with transportation to her home.

After the woman was led out of the court room the mayor held aloft the corn knife and facetiously remarked to the spectators present: "Boys, see what you run into when you go out on Eleventh street, you'll need a body guard around Diltz's."

Harry "Chesce" Edwards, who gave Portsmouth a wide berth until Mayor Friek's term of office expired, made his initial appearance before Mayor Kaps Thursday.

Edwards pleaded guilty to drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Clay Parks testified to Edwards coming to the home of the former's mother-in-law, Mrs. Maria Wright of Findlay street and where Edwards also roomed, in a drunken condition and trying to provoke a fight because he had heard someone had been talking about him. He said Edwards had threatened to murder him. The mayor fined Edwards $10 and said to him: "Mr. Edwards' conduct must be strictly on the square as long as he remains in Portsmouth," and also ordered him to leave Parks alone and stay

SUDDEN DEATH

Caused By Disease of the Kidneys.

The close connection which exists between the heart and the kidneys is well known nowadays. As soon as kidneys are diseased, arterial tension is increased and the heart functions are affected. When the kidneys no longer pour forth waste, uric acid poisoning occurs, and the person dies and the cause is often given as heart disease, or disease of brain or lungs.

It is a good insurance against such a risk to send 10 cents for a large trial package of "Auric" — the latest discovery of Dr. Pierce. Also send a sample of your water. This will be examined without charge by expert chemists at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. When you suffer from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains or neuralgia, headache, dizzy spells, irritability, despondency, weakness and general misery. Worry is a frequent, worn-out feeling, it's time to write Dr. Pierce, describe your symptoms and get his medical opinion without charge and absolutely free. This "Auric" of Dr. Pierce's is 37 times more active than lithia, for it dissolves uric acid in the system, as hot water does sugar.

Simply ask for Dr. Pierce's Auric Tablets. There can be no imitation. Every package of "Auric" is sure to be Dr. Pierce's. You will find the signature on the package just as you do on Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the ever-famous friend to all women.

Writes On Interview With Pope

Editor Times: Will you please publish the following lines in the interest of truth and fair play. In Saturday's Times you had a press dispatch from Washington, D. C., in the shape of a statement issued by the British embassy, purporting to be an interview, or audience, a Belgian Jesuit had with the Pope. And of course it was rather pro-Belgian in tone. Now, as a Catholic I know that the Pope, in spite of his very recent Italian citizenship, would not dare to take one side or the other of the belligerents in this present struggle, when there are millions of his spiritual children giving their life for their country on the other. And another thing — Catholics know is, that the Pope could not as a good diplomat give any such one-sided opinion, and even if he did it being a temporal affair would have no more effect on the Catholics of the Teutonic countries than my opinion would. But the object of the fake is obvious to influence the Catholics of neutral countries and possibly Catholic Ireland. But as the whole yarn so plainly bears the stamp of the British foreign office, it's hardly worth while to pay any more attention to that part of it.

When the distinguished Belgian Jesuit Father (I) Demise had his interview with the Pope, why didn't he ask him if he should also tell King Albert what a great mistake he made when he did not accept Germany's very liberal offer to allow German troops to march through his kingdom? All damage to be paid for. If Albert had done so instead of selling the neutrality of his country to Great Britain before the war commenced Belgium today would be it was England and the same English-aping un-American crowd of jingoists that accused her of them. Now I would like to know how they are going to determine what percentage of Belgian destruction was wrought by Germany and how much by the allies. I think that, outside of a few instances where the havoc was caused primarily by the Belgian bushwhackers themselves, all the destruction was done through military necessity on both sides, Poland excepted. Anyway, we have the testimony of that avowedly anti-German writer, Ervin S. Cobb, see back files of the Saturday Evening Post (pro-British), when he was with, and back of the German army, he related numerous instances to show how careful the German soldiers were to leave everything as they found it.

As to the rebuilding of factories and opening of mines, schools and universities, I have not learned that they have, but I'll bet my head the Germans have done that very thing; they wouldn't be Germans if they didn't. But "the restitution of private property," that single sentence proves to me that the whole yarn comes from the brain of John Bull's press agent, the British embassy at Washington, that private property, that the Germans took and paid for, either in money or redeemable paper from the peasantry, it's the personal property the money the Germans made the idle rich disgorge in the shape of a war indemnity. Belgium is a rich land, not rich in the sense that the poorer classes are prosperous and well cared for as in Germany. The wealth of Belgium is concentrated in even fewer hands than in Great Britain. That's where it hurts, someone else besides J. B. is controlling the money and resources of Belgium. So we can see the same cause is back of that prolonged howl that caused England to enter the war. France is battling for her lost provinces that she fled from Germany 200 years ago, and that Germany made her give up in 1870. Russia is fighting for Panslavism or did in the early part of the war. She is fighting for her life now. Italy wanted the Italian speaking province of Austria and for her treachery to her allies she will get less than she was offered to stay honorably neutral. And there is some sentiment in their madness. But our hypocritical Anglo-Saxon-Norman, (just notice all these byphens) friend (sometimes) John Bull, who said he went into the war to protect the integrity of small nations but in reality is fighting to save him the world market (money) controlled as it England is controlled by the few criminal rich that fomented and forced her into this war.

Mr. Editor, if the above sounds a little too radical, just remember that I have to swallow lots worse than that in all my old favorite publications, your paper not included. Believe me, in writing this I am actuated solely by my desire to see that Germany gets fair play and I'll venture the assertion that after this war is over and the full truth sees the light of day, a great many honorable men who are now riding with the allies, will be heartily ashamed of themselves, for letting Albion befooled them again as he has often done in the past.

BLUE EYES.

Perhaps you are a little too personal. Be friendly, but impersonal. It is a compliment to be called dignified. Do not care if you are misunderstood. People always misunderstand some things. Washington is a city, the capital of the United States, in the District of Columbia. D. C. stands for District of Columbia. Children of this age always ask such questions. He is probably a bright child. Answer his questions as well and as simply as you can. Your writing is pretty good.

Dear Miss Wise—Which kind of woman do you believe makes the most satisfactory wife, one who has worked and is entirely "self-supporting," or one who has never gone out into the world? It may not be an altogether commendable characteristic for a man to ask about anything so personal, but I have a fine chance of marrying a strictly home girl or a mighty fine business girl.

Both are all that a man would want in a wife, but I am undecided. Some say marry the girl who has always been at home, while others say the girl who is successful in the business world will surely be able to manage a home better than the girl who knows nothing about handling money. What is your opinion. A MERRY MAN.

There are things to be said in favor of both types of girls as wives. A business woman, so called, demands more of a man than does the woman who has been taught to regard man as the dispenser of cash and wisdom. The other woman as a rule, looks upon him as a kind of superior being which is undoubtedly very flattering to the man. It is hard for the woman who has been accustomed to having her own money to do with as she liked, to ask a man for it, and she often feels a resentment on that account which is not quite justifiable. It depends all together on your temperament or disposition as to which girl would make the better wife. If you are the kind of man who likes to be in a position of protector toward the "weaker sex," undoubtedly the home girl would make you happier. If you want a human—some one who regards you as a human being, someone who will not get peevish every time you are late for lunch, someone who sees every one of your faults and is likely to tell you about them—marry the "business woman."

Dear Miss Wise—Was it ever proposed to name one of the United States after Benjamin Franklin?

HISTORY SCHOLAR.

That name was actually used for a few years. In 1785 the settlers of what is now East Tennessee adopted a constitution and organized a state called Franklin. John Sevier, a prominent man of the period, was chosen governor, and a legislature was elected, which met at Jonesboro in 1785. But North Carolina claimed ownership and jurisdiction over that region and trouble arose which caused the Franklin state movement to be abandoned in 1788. The next year North Carolina ceded the region to the United States, and the territory of Tennessee was organized.

May Robson Coming

May Robson, who is extremely popular with our playgoers, comes to The Sun theatre Wednesday, February second, in a notable revival of Anne Warner's popular comedy of New England life, "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." It is needless to remark that in this play the popular comedienne found the most effective role of her career and the theatre-going public never grew tired of seeing Miss Robson as the dear, delightful New England aunt. The play has the same inherent qualities that made "The Old Homestead" pre-natal, with the exception that no one has been able to succeed Miss Robson in the title role as in the case of Denman Thompson. The reason for this is that Miss Robson, as "Aunt Mary Watkins" is so responsible for the larger part of the enjoyment of the play that it is even impossible to conceive of anyone filling her place.

New scenery and costumes, together with a cast of superior excellence, will make the production particularly notable. Seat sale opens Monday at 9 a. m. Mail orders now.

Song Service Is A Feature Of The Meetings; Crowds Flock To Trinity

General meeting—2:30.

FRIDAY

Personal Work Day.
Boys and Girls' meeting—

SUNDAY

Morning sermon: "The Best Thing in the World."
AFTERNOON SERVICES—2:00
For Men Only at Trinity.
For Women Only at Bigelow.

(By C. M. Weyand) Song Service

The worship in song continues to be a delightful phase of the meetings at Trinity. The special song books have been quite generally distributed and as a result a large part of the audience each evening co-operates in the singing.

Those who help in the song service find themselves almost unconsciously slipping into harmony with the purpose of the Great Campaign. Prof. Grant has not succeeded in building as large a chorus as he had hoped, but what may be lacking in quantity, is well made up in quality. Special solo work by Miss Staiger and Miss Aylesworth helped to pave the way for the sermon.

Sermon

Eph. 2:4; Heb. 2:3; Luke 16:26 constituted the scriptural basis of the sermon. "Facing Great Things," was the theme of the message.

God's Love

Matchless, boundless, infinite, wonderful, unchanging, marvelous the speaker descriptively applied to the love that God feels toward His children one and all. Words fail, only the heart can grasp the wonder of this great eternal fact. Human love is the greatest thing of which earth can tell. And yet how small is earthly love when viewed in comparison with Divine love. "Greater love hath no man than this that he lay down his life for his friend." Sacrifice is the test of love. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life." Could a greater proof be demanded of the love of God? God knows not class or caste. "Whosoever will may come." Earthly love particularizes; not so the love of God. The lowest, the poorest, the most steeped in sin, all alike can reach out and take the gift of God's love. Salvation is God's gift. It can not be bought for gold. Belief is the purchase price of salvation. When a man will open his heart's door wide to Christ and give Him full possession, salvation comes in triumphal entry.

Sin, refusal to hear and obey the call of the Infinite may forever close the door of the Kingdom. There is a great gulf fixed between those who accept the gift of God's marvelous love and those who reject "so great salvation."

The evangelist put the invitation proposition squarely before the great audience, pleading with them to accept God's great gift and thus escape the great separation.

Rev. Dunning Resigns

Rev. J. W. Dunning, who has accepted a call to Kalamazoo, Mich., has resigned as a member of the board of library trustees. Mayor H. H. Kaps expects to appoint his successor within a few days and will also fill other vacancies on the board and on the board of sinking fund trustees.

Great Meeting At Trinity Last Night; Fine Sermon Heard

By MILFORD KEYES

The crowd was at Trinity again last night and the preachers—all except Rev. Marling, who is down with the grip, and the faithful laymen and lay women, and the choir, also a great sprinkling of enthusiastic boys and girls. Also Evangelist Reed was there and in great form, and Prof. Grant and the Aylesworth sisters with their sweet voices and devoted powers of evangelistic endeavor. O, yes, the reporters were there, too; those under the immediate droppings of the pulpit and those anchored up near the dome. And best of all, as Brother Dierlert imparted to a Times scribe, the Lord was there, and that looks like all the essentials for a good meeting. And it was a good meeting. The evangelist took two texts, one from Ephesians, 2nd chapter and 4th verse, and the other from Luke, 15th chapter and 26th verse. The subject was belief, coming to God in faith, and the power of divine love. It was a wonderful sermon. The evangelist made it very plain that without faith it was impossible to find God, and peace and happiness. He appealed to those who were seeking happiness and contentment, and said nearly all men and women were on the wrong track in their pursuit of pleasure; the only proper pleasure came from oneness with God, and without faith and belief this oneness could not be secured. He related several anecdotes and gave fewer startling illustrations than usual. His sermon was close and logical, with a close adherence to the text, and was delivered with power and burning eloquence. See report elsewhere.

NOTES

The proportion of women to men in the congregation is about as twenty to one. Bither this means that the women are that much more pious than men, or that the men are so good, or think they are, that it is not necessary for them to go to church. This is the view taken by ex-Commissioner J. J. Spencer, who is a fairly regular attendant.

Judge Beatty is a member of Trinity, but says he is afraid to attend since they have decided the sheep from the goats, requiring the sheep to wear buttons. The judge is afraid he might land on the wrong side of the line among the goats, and he says he has had experience, politically and otherwise, of being made the goat, and he shies at the prospect. He thinks a spiritual goat would be the worst of the species. His two fair deputies, however, wear the little white button, and are thinking of working with, as well as for, the unregenerate judge.

Charley Rice, ex-convict reformed, is a pillar of Trinity and a faithful attendant at the meetings. Mr. Rice is one man who holds that it is a mistaken idea that many have, that a man cannot be a politician and office holder and still be a Christian. In fact, he thinks a good brand of Christianity would be a valuable asset for a man treading the devious path of public service. He never found it necessary to side track his religion in his pursuit of the elusive office. Of course he means real religion, not the kind sometimes kept in stock for sale and other things dealt out in campaign times.

The reporters' attention was last night called by Henry Cline to the peculiar circumstances that Portsmouth district has had two presiding elders named before Dillon. One was the present Dr. Dillon, pastor emeritus of Bigelow, who is a very tall man, and the other was a much shorter man of the same name. In conference times they were designated by bishops, preachers and laymen as "Long John Dillon" and "Short John Dillon," by way of differentiation. That would seem to be the "long" and "short" of it. Short John did not reside in Portsmouth during his services in the district, but in Hamden. The only other instance of absence presiding eldership was that of Rev. Gilliland, who ran the district from Delaware.

It is interesting for those facing the audience to notice the expression in the faces of the vast mass of humanity. The expression includes all the emotion from intense soul racking attention to utter carelessness. Hundreds of these present never move a muscle or change their expression in the smallest particular. Emerson has said something along this line in one of his essays, but we can't just recall it.

John M. Wendelkin is a pillar of the Fourth Street church and attends most of the meetings. He is connected with the pious Brodbeck family, and likes to refer to Stephen Brodbeck, one of the pioneers of the German Methodist church. He also speaks of the younger Brodbecks, who entered the English speaking ministry and became stars in their calling. Stephen Brodbeck was the father of Fred Brodbeck, well known citizen.

Choir Leader Grant says he is saving his pennies with the intention of purchasing a chicken farm later on. He loves chickens and thinks heaven and earth come nearer together on a chicken farm than elsewhere. He doesn't want them for the money there may or not be in the raising of chickens. Perish the thought. He loves the biddies and the cockerils and takes pleasure in their company; still, if any cash should happen to come his way through the poultry route, why—ahem! Mr. Grant already has a fine fruit farm in southern Indiana, and when he adds chickens he thinks life will be worth living between meetings. The ideal Kentuckian turns to "hoses" and fat cattle. Not so this tuncful gospeler, who can out-Kentucky most of them when it comes to blood.

"For a little bit of love" was sweetly sung by Miss Olive Aylesworth last night. This young lady is certainly a vocal artist. She is also a magnetic personal worker, and when she gets her arms about a young factory girl or shop girl it is but a few minutes before they are headed together for the mourners' bench.

Prof. Grant called on the ushers to sing the chorals of a song last night while the choir and audience remained quiet. The effect was all that might have been expected. The white ribbon boys were stricken with stage fright and beautiful silence was the result. Each one said afterwards that he could have sunk all right, but he wanted to listen to the others.

Friday will be "personal work" day. All personal workers will be expected to get busy, whosoever that may be, in shop, factory, bank, store or on the street.

Sunday morning Mr. Reed, at the morning service will preach on the "Best Thing in the World." He wants all to come out and learn what this great thing is.

Interest Is Growing At Baptist Revival

The special revival services being conducted at the Kendall Avenue Baptist church are attended by increasing congregations each night. From the beginning of the preparations made for the meetings the working forces of the church have been deeply anxious for a manifestation of the work of the Holy Spirit and they are faithfully discharging their responsibility as far as is within their power. Each service is witnessing a deepening sense of the need of personal dedication of life on the part of the hearers, both Christians and those who have never acknowledged Jesus as their Saviour. Many who have once been earnest Christians and have wandered away from Christ into sin have answered the call of God and returned to open acknowledgement of their sin and have found the lost joy of salvation. Others have owned Jesus as their Saviour for the first time and are rejoicing that they were willing to make that last step.

The pastor, Rev. W. M. Hart, is assisted by a chorus choir of twenty-five voices, who never fail to be in their places when the time comes, and most effectively lead in the song service each evening as well as to render special selections. Last night the pastor sang as a solo, "Face to Face," to a large and attentive audience.

The topic of the evening sermon was: "Marking Time," using as the text, I Kings 18:21—"How long go ye limping between the two sides?" The speaker said in part:

"Neutrality of nations in time of war is commendable but no man can occupy a neutral position with regard to Jesus Christ. You are either a Christian or not a Christian. Many a man tries to pass as being neutral, but there are but two sides in the conflict of life—right and wrong. "The religion of Jesus Christ gets the credit for many of the wrongs of many professing Christians but it is not his religion that makes him wrong, it is his lack of religion. A man's religion never carries him wrong and you know it. When you criticize him you criticize his weaknesses and not his strength. Many an honest hearted man and woman has given up hope because you have let your tongue loose in criticism and discouragement when he has made some mistake in his Christian life. "You can mark time all day and never move an inch. Some of you here tonight have been marking time in life for years. Can you tell me how far you have gone? Years ago you had a conviction that it was your duty to become a Christian by taking Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour and you have just been marking time ever since, and you have that same opinion tonight. You have been moving all the time and have gone nowhere. I had rather live and die in a land where I never heard the gospel than to live in a land such as ours and simply mark time like you are doing. Your opportunity seriously adds to your responsibility and you will have absolutely no excuse to offer when you are called upon to pass by the judgment bar of God. You have simply stood and marked time, while others all around you have responded to the call of the grand marshal and marched forward to the conquering life in Christ Jesus. "You tell me that you intend

McDermott Calls Evangelist Edwards

Harry Edwards and son, John, have been urged to come to McDermott for the week beginning January 31st, Monday. The marked success, that has attended the Buena Vista meeting which will close this week, has opened up a large evangelistic field to these willing workers. Mr. Edwards makes a strong appeal to men and the young Mr. Edwards, who is a chorister and soloist is a splendid personal worker among the young people. All who have heard these men agree that they are an exceedingly strong team.

During the winter and early spring they will hold meetings continuously throughout the country. It is expected that a large audience will greet Mr. Edwards on next Monday night at the McDermott Methodist church. The stone-mill men are urged to come the opening night and hear the gospel from a "Workingman Evangelist."

Curling Iron Kills Hair; New Method Improves It

Many a woman loses the silky, fluffy and brilliant appearance of her hair through habitual use of the hot curling iron. Certainly it can do the hair no good to dry up its natural oil, slough the life out of it, making it harsh, brittle and dull. And there's no excuse for continuing the use of that destructive instrument, now that we know what can be accomplished by applying plain liquid salina.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podophyllin) they call it daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santal Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it. These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers. They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue. They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last you several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4c) does that will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santal Remedies Co., 802 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

GAMES NEXT WEEK.
Thursday Evening—Rebels vs. Clon Hoppers, alleys 4 and 5.
Friday Evening—Giant Killers vs. Corn Shuckers, alleys 4 and 5; Spiders vs. Submarines, alleys 2 and 3.

Bowling carefully, artistically, deliberately—aye, even viciously, those Ironsides of the Masonic League, tripped up the Giant Killers two out of three at the Play House alleys, Wednesday evening, and were as happy over the result as though they had won first money in a National Tournament.

The Giant Killers seemed to be off their stride at various times and on sundry occasions. When one player was up the others would be down and that union of achievement was easily lacking. On the other hand the Ironsides managed to bunch their good work and this accounts for the fact that they walked off the battle field with the first and last game. The Ironsides pulled together in the sandwich game and managed to squeeze through in apple pie order.

"Hildy," tall, angular and active, led off for the Ironsides and set a pretty nice pace. He was generally there when needed and came within a few paces of averaging 150, pretty nice for "Hildy." Moore came onto the alleys with that good right arm carefully managed, and while he did get one poor game, nevertheless he was a heat at in the other two, and to him must go much of the credit for winning the two games. He clipped off 152 for a starter, and then hit into more splits than you'll find in a bottle of Red Raven, finishing with 100. Determined to relieve himself, he whanged into the pins for 153, a bad break keeping him out of the 170 circle. Pretty good, arm, the 170 circle. Conliffe, a roller by profession, shot in fearfully hard luck, getting more than his share of splits. At that he did fairly well and kept plugging like the thoroughbred he is at all times. John Millard was like Pinnergan—on again, off again, gone again. His best effort amounted to 136. Captain Clark did not have his usual big night, but came through in the last game with 145. The ton, was hampered by splits, else he would have been away up yonder.

Edward Riekey, for the Giants, had one of his poorest nights and admitted the same. He lost the range of the base pin and had one awful time keeping ahead of the 100 mark. Frank J. Baker, the "Sleepless Shoe Man," started out

The champion Maysville high school basketball team will participate in the State School Basketball Tournament which will be held in Danville, Ky., March 3, 4 and 5. The Maysville high school students will give a play to raise the money to send the team to Danville. Maysville has one of the best teams in years this season.

The Spanish class basketball five will clash with the German Evangelical church five in the high school gym Friday evening. It will be the first time these two teams have met on the floor this season. Egbert, Armentrout, Schults, Staten and Matthews will be in the Spanish team's lineup while Lili, Howe, Gims, Kueselman, Rah and Schusky will perform for the "Dutchmen."

The football season has been dead long enough to be buried, but it isn't down east followers of Harvard and Cornell still are chafing the race about the respective merits of their teams.

Harvard adherents claim the Harvard team which beat Yale would have soundly defeated Cornell. Sons of their reds Cornell beat Harvard 10 to 0, despite the fact that Chuck Barrett, Cornell's biggest star, was in the game only a few minutes.

What, they ask, would have been the score had Barrett escaped injury.

The Augusta, Ky., high school basketball five won the championship of Southern Kentucky by defeating the Dayton, Ky., five recently.

He added that none of the spring birds have left this section as yet, and seemed to think that February is sure to bring the first real cold weather of the winter.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten soon in the stomach much like garbage; soars in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour lo or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea. He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

And Out," Says Confessed Counterfeiter

Newton Jones and John Savage, local men arrested a few days ago on charges of counterfeiting and passing counterfeit money, confessed to the U. S. authorities in Cincinnati, Wednesday, according to Wednesday's Cincinnati Times-Star, which contained the following article about them:

"The life does not pay. I was down and out, I had no place to go to, no friends to aid me and I started to make spurious money. I served one sentence of 4 years," so said Newton Jones, confessed counterfeiter.

"This is the first time you had me and it will be the last. I got into this foolishly," John Savage, who confessed he passed coins made by Jones.

Their statements were made in the police Bertillon room, when Supt. Robert Dunning took their photographs, measurements and fingerprints for Col. Michael Bolan of the U. S. Secret Service. Jones, formerly lived at Bellevue, Ky., where he was caught making bogus coins and was sent to Atlanta. Savage had never before been arrested. They are relatives by marriage. Jones is a fine looking man with a gray beard. The men were arrested on a shantytown near New Boston, O., by Portsmouth police, and Col. Bolan notified. With Deputy U. S. Marshal Hough he went to Portsmouth and worked "up" the case against the men. "A man named Taylor taught me to make the molds," said Jones. "I made them from plaster of paris. The metal I got in different places in Cincinnati. The first time I only made bogus silver money, but this time I made $5 and $10 gold pieces. I was down and out and I thought that it was easier to make my own money than to get it any other way. No, I never passed a coin myself. I had others do that. It was enough that I made it. I made about $300 and about half of that was passed."

"No, I never saw the old man make a mold. He would never let me see them," said Savage. "He always did that when alone, and after he run off a half dozen or so coins, he would throw the mold into the river. They were daisies, too. I had no trouble to pass the coins. I came to Cincinnati and bought the material he used."

LEVI D. YORK MADE LIFE MEMBER OF THE ELKS

Portsmouth Lodge of R. P. O. Elks, at their meeting Wednesday night, conferred a signal honor upon one of its most enthusiastic members, when Mr. Levi D. York, president of the Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Company, was made an honorary life member. A resolution was unanimously passed commending Mr. York for his adjustment of the question of taking a five-year lease on the Elks' comfortable quarters. Before the resolution was passed it was announced that a five-year lease on the present quarters in the Play House building had been formally signed up, with a privilege of a longer extension at the expiration of the five years. The Elks are now in complete possession of their handsomely furnished quarters, and Elksdom in Portsmouth will enjoy a boom in the next few months, as plans are under way to materially increase the membership. With the signing of the lease it was announced that the work of completing several added features of the new home would now be taken up.

The building committee, which labored so faithfully to provide the Elks with a comfortable home was given a hearty vote of thanks last night and it was discharged. The committee was composed of Messrs. Paul Eschborn, Valrie Harpold and Alan N. Jordan. This committee worked in absolute harmony with the board of trustees, composed of L. P. Haldeman, J. T. Carey, J. E. Carr and John B. Jones, and the trustees were also extended a vote of thanks last night for the capable manner in which they performed their work in connection with the Elks' new home.

Deep regret was expressed over the death of Gordon Frank Lauman, who for a number of years had been a member of No. 164 R. P. O. Elks. Fitting resolutions will be adopted lamenting his death. He was held in the highest esteem by the lodge, and local Elksdom lost one of its shining marks in the passing of Ex-Senator Frank Lauman.

The serious illness of Adam Seal was reported and a beautiful bouquet of flowers was ordered sent to his sick room. Mr. Seal is one of the living seven charter members of the lodge.

Excited Ruler Stanley McCall announced at the meeting that a class of 10 candidates would be initiated on Wednesday night, February 9. Thirteen candidates were successfully balloted upon last night. Two weeks ago a class of 18 was initiated.

PRESIDENT WILSON
GUEST OF NEW YORK
TODAY, TOMORROW
WILL START TRIP WEST

New York, N. Y., Jan. 27.—President Wilson arrived here at six o'clock today to face a program calling for a reception by clergymen, the delivery of addresses before two business organizations and the probability that he would be interviewed by 200 women seeking his approval of a suffrage amendment in constitution and by a delegation of German Americans who want him to persuade the British government to permit the shipment of milk from America for babies in Germany.

The president was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, his secretary, Joseph Tamm, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson. The party remained on board the train in the Pennsylvania station until eight o'clock when a committee from the railroad business association arrived to escort them to the Waldorf Astoria hotel. A delegation of women from the congressional union for women suffrage had promised to await his arrival at the hotel to ask him for his support for the Susan B. Anthony amendment in congress. They had been informed by associates in Washington that the president was willing to meet them but had appointed no definite hour for the meeting.

Mr. Wilson planned to remain at the hotel until noon and then go to Aeolian Hall to receive a number of clergymen who desired to present an address expressing their appreciation of his efforts for peace.

The main purpose of the president's visit is to deliver before the Railway Business Association a speech which is to open his campaign for preparedness. After addressing the railway men the president has arranged to speak at a banquet of the Motion Picture Board of Trade of America.

Mr. Wilson expects to leave New York for Washington at midnight tonight and to leave the capital tomorrow night for his western tour.

MEALS THAT HELP STOP INDIGESTION

The work of digesting food, substantial meals is necessary exercise for the stomach. You will never cure indigestion by starving. Indigestion is not caused by food. It is caused by excess acid that ferments the food. Highly seasoned or greasy, fried foods help cause an excess acid secretion in the stomach. Therefore to get rid of acid indigestion, you should eat moderately substantial meals of plain foods, such as meats, vegetables, fruits, eggs, Graham bread, etc., and after each meal take a teaspoonful of Bismuth Magnesia in a quarter glass of water to neutralize the excess acid and thus prevent fermentation. Bismuth Magnesia is a harmless antidote which can be had at any drug store. As there are several forms of Bismuth Magnesia, the Fisher & Stretch Pharmacy can supply you.

ARE HEIRS TO MILLIONS,
IF THEY GET HOLD OF IT

Mrs. Jesse Gardner, son Dick, and daughter Mrs. Charles Thornburg, of 2942 Walnut street, East Portsmouth, has received notice that they are among a number of heirs to a large fortune which will run into the millions.

Rev. Moses D. Steen, M. D., of Glen Hazel, Washington, Scotland, who is a cousin of Mrs. Gardner, has written to her saying that he is making an effort to locate all heirs of Alexander

Steen, grandfather of Mrs. Gardner, who came to this country and made his fortune. Rev. Steen is one of the closest relatives and is locating the relatives so the vast amount of money can be divided.

The letters received by Mrs. Gardner contain a coat of arms that of the jeweled crown of Scotland. Alexander Steen came from a royal family. From the little amount of information received so far the fortune consists of land at Lancaster, Pa., where large steel mills have been erected on the ground. Chestnut Heights at Lancaster are said to be part of the fortune. One whole square of land in the business district of San Francisco is also part of the land formerly owned by Alexander Steen. Mrs. Gardner expects more information from her cousin in regard to the number of heirs and the exact amount of the fortune.

Saw Two Nude Men Running Up Alley

Reports reached police headquarters Wednesday night that two men perfectly nude had been seen running up the alley at the rear of Brierley & Vele's dyeing and cleaning plant, corner Sixth and Offshore streets. Officer Dunham was detailed to investigate and a short time later a woman of the neighborhood telephoned about a prowler being in the alley. It developed that Dunham was the supposed prowler. He was unable to find any trace of the two men complained of.

A Remarkable Letter Received Regarding Peterson's
Ointment—Please Publish
This Letter

March 2, 1915.
Dear Sir:—I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for seven years. I am a farmer at the American Agricultural Chemical Co., at West Park. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors and all others, but they all failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors after treating me for some time said I could not live for any more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. I gladly recommend Peterson's Ointment as a wonderful healing agent and sincerely urge everyone afflicted as I was to begin using it at once.
Thanking you,
WILLIAM HAASE,
Care of G. B. B. Box 192,
West Park, Ohio.
Peterson says: "I am proud of the fact that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, and such diseases." Peterson's Ointment is 25 cents at all drug stores.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Polka who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, indigestion, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluice of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, biliousness, stomach trouble, rheumatism, others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.
